Lecture Set on Hawaii’s Mystery and Volcanoes

Dr. Don B. Weser, professor of chemistry at FSU, will present a lecture on “Hawaii, Land of Mystery, Enchantment and Volcanoes,” Thursday, Sept. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the PE Center Leake Room.

Hawaii is a land of great mystery, intrigue and astounding diversity of cultures and peoples. Its history is rooted in legends and stories that have been passed from one generation to another, and much of that interest and superstition still resides there. Weser’s presentation will focus on Hawaii’s fascination both underwater and far above sea level, from its sea life to its volcanoes, which leads to a realm vastly different from that encountered in the continental United States.

Weser was given the opportunity to explore many facets of the islands through the Chautauqua program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Volcanic samples and artifacts will be on display following the lecture. Refreshments will be served prior to the talk. For more information, contact Weser at x4157.

Nai-Ni Chen Company to Perform Chinese Festival

Parents’ Weekend festivities will feature a performance of the Chinese Festival with the Nai-Ni Chen Dance Company on Saturday, Oct. 5, at 8:30 p.m. in the Cordts Center Main Arena.

Blending tradition with innovation, the Nai-Ni Chen Dance Company fuses the power and elegance of Chinese art forms with the dynamic and liberated world of contemporary dance. Choreographer Nai-Ni Chen uses a unique dance vocabulary inspired by Chinese and Zen calligraphy, ceremonies, folk rituals and nature to create a new model for Asian dance in the United States.

Many of her works use themes from ancient Chinese poetic drama to reflect and explore contemporary issues. Her dances explore the common ground between tradition and innovation, freedom and discipline, spirit and form.

Now a world-renowned performer, master teacher and choreographer, Chen immigrated to the United States from Taiwan in 1982 with dreams of creating a new style of dance to represent her distinctive vision. She entered New York University as a professional dancer after having toured with a Chinese Performing Arts troupe that brought her native land’s culture and dance to 26 countries.

Since its formation in 1988, the Nai-Ni Chen Dance Company has received fellowships, awards and commissions from the National Endowment for the Arts, Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation, Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation and the Jih-Sun Foundation, among others, for its creative new works and contributions to the preservation of tradition. In addition to its active performance schedule, the Company offers education outreach to schools throughout the country.

Nai-Ni Chen Dance Company

This Asian-American dance company celebrates the heritage and achievement of community by exploring issues of identity, authenticity and equality. An evening with the Nai-Ni Chen Dance Company promises to be an elegant and enchanting experience for all ages.

Music

Cyclophonica Cycles its Way from Brazil to FSU

In its first demonstration in the United States, "Cyclophonica" is coming to FSU. Cyclophonica is musicians on bicycles, some bearing homemade instruments – and in many cases, the bikes make music, too – pedaling around the FSU campus and the city of Frostburg performing a variety of music in a variety of styles. The music can include everything from a siren to a cell phone, to a bird call to individual organ pipes, removed from their organs.

The creator of Cyclophonica is Dr. Leonardo Fuks, a professor of Music and Acoustics at the Federal University in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He is an active researcher in the physics of musical instruments with particular interest in developing new technologies for improving instruments, as well as new instruments with novel sounds. He's also an accomplished performer on the oboe. The Brazilian tour of the "bicycle orchestra" received considerable attention, including on international television news. This will be Dr. Fuks' first performance in the United States. Dr. Fuks' visit to Frostburg will include two performances from the bicycle orchestra on Friday afternoon on campus and Saturday morning in town, a workshop on creating or adapting instruments for bicycle orchestra on Friday afternoon, and a scientific lecture, "Product Acoustics – Designing the Sound Qualities of a Manufactured World" on Thursday afternoon.

More details will be forthcoming. All events are free and open to the public. The lecture will propose the creation of a new, multi-faceted discipline, Product Acoustics, to deal with the problems and possibilities that objects, devices and systems create when functioning or interacting with other objects. For example, acousticians may try to suppress undesirable "by-product sounds," but sounds may also provide useful information about the operation of the system. A multidisciplinary approach – involving psychoacoustics (the study of how the human brain processes sound), musical acoustics, vibration, material science and industrial design — would be required. For more information, contact Dr. George Plitnik in the Physics Department at x4159.

Chapter 6 to Perform A-Cappella Music

Chapter 6, an a-cappella vocal ensemble from Chicago, will perform in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Hall at 9 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 4, as part of FSU's Parents' Weekend. This concert is free and open to the public. Comprised of six singers and one arranger, Chapter 6 has created a medley of original arrangements from jazz to gospel, pop, rock and classical renaissance. What began as a class in 1995 became Millikin University's premiere, a-cappella ensemble. The group was discontinued in 1998; since then it has been an independent organization, directed by students.

Shortly after releasing their first CD, "A cappella 101," Chapter 6 won The Chicago Harmony Sweepstakes, becoming the youngest group to ever qualify for the National Harmony Sweepstakes. For information, contact the Lane University Center's Information Desk at x4411.

Neal Corwell to Present Euphonium Recital

Dr. Neal Corwell will present a recital on Thursday, Oct. 3, in Pealer Recital Hall at 8 p.m. The recital is free and open to the public. Corwell, having served with The U.S. Army Band in Washington, D.C., "Pershing's Own," from 1981 to 1989, recently rejoined that organization and is now again playing euphonium as a member of the armed services. During the intervening years, Neal earned his doctorate in music from the University of Maryland and made his living as a freelance musician, appearing in Europe, Asia, and all across the United States as guest euphonium soloist and composer. He also was an adjunct faculty member at both FSU and Shepherd College, teaching low brass and electronic music. Over 40 of Corwell's original works and arrangements are published, and several have been included on recent recordings. His solo CDs include "Distant Images" (1994), "Heart of a Wolf" (2000), and the soon to be released "Out Sitting in his Field" (2002).

Theatre

'South Pacific' Opens Theatre Season

The Rodgers and Hammerstein hit musical "South Pacific" opens the University Theatre season on Friday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre. Additional evening performances are set for Oct. 12, 17, 18 and 19. Two Saturday matinees have been set for Oct. 12 and 19 at 2 p.m. Based on two short stories from James Michener's wartime collection "Tales of the South Pacific," this classic musical focuses on two love stories.

The lush score, including such hits as "Some Enchanted Evening," "Younger than Springtime" and "There is Nothing Like a Dame," combined with the serious themes of racial prejudice, hate and the effects of war on a formerly pristine paradise, made "South Pacific" the second musical to win the Pulitzer Prize in Drama for 1949.

For information and reservations, call x7462 between 1 and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Season Discount Cards, available to the general public for $30, allow cardholders to attend "South Pacific" for free. Tickets for individual performances are $10 for the general public. Student tickets are $4.

AustraLearn arranges cheap flights, an orientation program on the Great Barrier Reef, pre-registration and transcript evaluation. Students may choose from a broad range of courses at campuses in beautiful and exotic surroundings. Scholarships are available from both FSU and AustraLearn. Applications for spring 2003 are now being accepted.

Study in Newcastle, England

Students interested in studying at the University of Northumbria in Newcastle, England, may apply now for spring 2003 semester. Newcastle is one of the liveliest cities in the UK, just across the Channel from Amsterdam, and three hours north of London (one hour south of Edinburgh) by train. Courses are available in a wide variety of subjects. The cost of the program is about the same as one semester at FSU (in-state) and all financial aid will transfer.

Semester Overseas for Same Price as FSU

The International Student Exchange Program (ISEP) allows FSU students to register at FSU, pay FSU tuition and housing, and then study overseas for a semester, year or summer at one of more than 140 locations. Students may take financial aid with them and may apply for scholarships from the CIE. Students may choose programs taught either in English or other languages. For the price of an airline ticket, this is a great way to earn credit toward your FSU degree while enjoying life in a foreign culture. Apply now for spring or fall 2003.

Choose from Over 20 Locations to Study

FSU affiliates with the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS), which offers study abroad programs in a variety of locations at universities around the world. Programs are open to all majors. Study in Prague, South Africa or Japan. You may register at FSU and use your financial aid for all programs. AIFS offers scholarships to qualified students. Apply now for spring 2003.

Do Your Student Teaching in Copenhagen

Education majors who would like to earn a semester of FSU credits while studying in Denmark should apply now for the spring 2003 semester's exchange program with the KDAS School of Teacher Training in Copenhagen. Students complete projects and spend several weeks in Danish schools practicing student teaching skills. All courses are in English. Financial aid transfers and scholarships are available.

Gain Work/Volunteer Experience Overseas

Students interested in working abroad should come by the CIE for information about internships, volunteer organizations and paid work overseas. Many organizations help students obtain jobs and work permits, and some help to arrange housing as well. Students can choose from short experiences (one to two months) to longer experiences (four to 12 months), or even look into a more serious commitment (one to three years). Destinations are available throughout the world.
