T.J. Coleman to Present Untold Story of 'The Wereth Eleven' at FSU

T.J. Coleman, president of the Aubrey Stewart Project, will present the untold story of "The Wereth Eleven" soldiers on Monday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Atkinson Room (234) of the Lane University Center. This presentation will focus on Piedmont, W.Va., native, Aubrey Stewart, one of the 11 black U.S. soldiers who were executed by German troops during the Battle of the Bulge in 1944. The presentation is free and open to the public.

Stewart was 36, too old to be drafted, when he left his job at the Westvaco Paper Mill and volunteered to fight in World War II. He would become a part of The Wereth Eleven: 11 black soldiers from the 333rd Field Artillery Battalion, a black unit in the segregated U.S. Army, who were separated from their unit during that crucial battle.

Stewart and the other soldiers hiked for miles in the snow with no food, trying to rejoin American troops before coming on the tiny town of Wereth, Belgium. They were welcomed in to the home of Mathias Langer and his family, who were risking their own lives by doing so. For a brief time, the soldiers were warm and comfortable in Langer's home. Soon, however, a woman sympathetic to the Germans informed the SS that the men were in town. The soldiers were executed by German soldiers, and their bodies were left in the snow for more than two months.

Years later, a wooden cross from the Langer family cemetery was placed on the site of the massacre to honor the 11 victims. The townspeople of Wereth continued to raise money to honor the soldiers, and today, a permanent memorial stands inscribed with the names of all 11 soldiers.

The Aubrey Stewart Project was formed by Coleman as a way to publicize the often-forgotten story of Stewart and The Wereth Eleven. Unifying all races is one of Coleman's primary goals for the project. Coleman also hopes the project will encourage today's youth to leave an impact on society. The mottos of the Aubrey Stewart Project are "Above and Beyond the Call of Duty," "The Ultimate Sacrifice" and "Excellence Above All Things."

For info on this presentation, contact the FSU Diversity Center at x4030. A documentary on The Wereth Eleven will also be aired on the National Geographic Channel on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 9 p.m.

Presentations

Advocate Ethan Nuss to Present Lecture on Clean Energy

Ethan Nuss, field director of the Energy Action Coalition and an active player in the U.S. youth clean energy movement, will present the lecture "Our Generation's Clean Energy Revolution" at FSU on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 7 p.m. in the Atkinson Room (234) of the Lane University Center. This program is free and open to the public.

Nuss has been a part of the U.S. youth clean energy movement for the last four years. Supporting numerous youth-led grassroots campaigns, he has achieved clean energy victories at the campus, state and national levels.

Nuss has worked as the Maryland campaign coordinator for the Chesapeake Climate Action Network and the national campus coordinator for 2020 Vision. He is a strong believer in the prospect of peace and opposes the violence that catastrophic climate change wreaks on communities.

This presentation is coordinated by the Sustainability Minor Steering Committee with the support of the Office of the President, the FSU Foundation, the APO service fraternity, the Division of Student Leadership and the Departments of English and Geography.

For info, contact Dr. Sydney Duncan in the English Department at x4225 or Dr. Henry Bullamore in the Geography Department at x4413.

John Crawley of U.S. Olympic Committee to Speak at FSU

John Crawley, who works for the U.S. Olympic Committee on issues involving team sports performance, will present two lectures at FSU on Feb. 21 and 22. Both programs are free and open to the public.

"From Pheidippides to Phelps: Reflections on Athletic Performance in the Modern Olympic Games" will be presented on Monday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Leake Room of the Cordts Physical Education Center. "Citius, Altius, Fortius: It's Not Every Four Years ... It's Every Day" will be presented Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 9:30 a.m., also in the Leake Room.

Crawley is the high-performance director of team sports with the Sport Performance Division of the U.S. Olympic Committee in Chula Vista, Calif. He has worked for over 11 years in various sport performance roles with the U.S. Olympic team, and has served with the U.S. delegations at the Olympic Games, Pan American Games and World Championships. He holds a level III Elite Coaching Certification from U.S. Triathlon, a level II Endurance Coaching Certification from U.S. Track and Field and a level II Coaching Certification from U.S. Cycling.

The Wellner Scholar Program was created from an endowment from the FSU Foundation, Inc., to allow the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation to host a series of lectures by nationally acclaimed scholars. It was named for the late Lillian Wellner, a former FSU registrar and physical education instructor.

For info about the programs, call the Department of Health and Physical Education at x7017. For info about supporting the Wellner Scholarship program or the FSU Foundation, visit foundation.frostburg.edu or call x4161.

Theatre

Songs of Leiber and Stoller Erupt in 'Smokey Joe's Café'

Front, Kai White and Sylvern Groomes; back, Brent Mitchell and Kristen Brown

Come to a raw, nitty-gritty, steamy production of the Tony and Grammy award-winning musical, "Smokey Joe's Café," on Feb. 25 and 26, and March 3, 4 and 5 at 7:30 p.m., with matinee performances Feb. 26 and March 5 at 2 p.m. All performances will take place in the Drama Theatre of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

With outrageous concert lighting and special effects, this rock-style production will honor the original recordings of superstars of the '50s and '60s, including Elvis Presley, Big Mama Thornton, Jimmie Littlefield, The Drifters, The Coasters, The Shangri-las, Buddy Holly and many more. Showcasing timeless hits by the writing team of Leiber and Stoller, like "Jailhouse Rock," "Stand By Me," "Kansas City," "There Goes My Baby," "Spanish Harlem" and "Hound Dog," Smokey Joe's Café reminds us of the rebellion and joy of American pop-culture of the time. With electric performances and smoking choreography, this show pulses with romance, magic and humor.

For reservations and info, contact the Theatre and Dance Box Office at x7462 (Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.) Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

'Vagina Monologues' Celebrates 10th Year at FSU

This February, V-DAY FSU will celebrate 10 years of raising awareness and raising funds to end worldwide violence against women and girls.

On Feb. 17 and 18 at 7:30 p.m., there will be a benefit performance of Eve Ensler's "The Vagina Monologues," directed by Regina Alderton, in FSU's Performing Arts Center. An information festival and display of the Clothesline Project will begin both nights at 6:30 p.m. in the PAC lobby.

Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. Call x7462 for reservations.

For info about V-Day FSU events, e-mail coordinator Marina Byerly at fsuvday@gmail.com.

V-Day now meets on Mondays at 5:20 p.m.

V-Day will also hold the annual handmade scarf sale with V-Day events and will be selling scarves in the lobby of the Lane Center this week. To donate scarves or materials, contact Regina Alderton at rgalderton@frostburg.edu. Proceeds from all fundraising will go to FCRC, The Dove Center and this year's V-Day Spotlight: Women of Haiti.

CES Brings 'The Glass Menagerie' to FSU

"The Glass Menagerie," one of Tennessee Williams' most beloved plays, will come to FSU on Tuesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. Part of the Main Stage Series of the Cultural Events Series, "The Glass Menagerie," presented by Walnut Street Theatre, will be performed in the PAC Drama Theatre.

The play takes place in 1937 in a small apartment in St. Louis at the home of Amanda Wingfield and her two children – Tom, an aspiring poet and shoe factory worker, and Laura, a painfully shy girl who wears a brace on her leg and spends her free time playing with her small glass animal collection. Amanda is Laura's mother and a former Southern belle, who, since her husband left her, has been obsessed with finding an appropriate "gentleman caller" for her fragile daughter. The overbearing mother elicits the help of her irresponsible, dreamer son in hopes of making her own dreams come true.

"The Glass Menagerie" is considered by many to be an autobiographical play about Williams' own life, with the characters and story mimicking his past more closely than any of his other works. Williams (whose real name is Thomas) would be Tom, his mother, Amanda, and his sickly and (supposedly) mentally ill sister Rose would be Laura (whose nickname in the play is "Blue Roses," a result of an unfortunate bout of pleurosis as a high school student). It has also been suggested that Laura's character is based on Williams himself, referencing his introverted nature and obsessive focus on one part of life.

Tickets are $22 for adults and $15 for those under 17. Group discount tickets are available. For info, contact the Cultural Events Series at x3137 or visit <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

Second Annual One-Act Playwriting Competition

The FSU Center for Creative Writing announces its second annual One-Act Playwriting Competition to showcase new works.

Writers are encouraged to submit their one-act plays (with a running time of 40 minutes or less) to the center by April 1. Entries will be judged on plot, character development, dialogue and overall quality.

The first prize winner will receive $750 and production of his or her play at the Frostburg One-Act Playwriting Festival to be held on the FSU campus in September. Second and third prize winners will receive $250 and $100, respectively, and staged readings of their works.

For submission guidelines, visit the Center for Creative Writing's Web site at www.frostburg.edu/cwcenter.

Film

Come to the Palace!

Thanks to an agreement between FSU and the Palace Theatre, FSU students can attend the Palace's monthly movie for only $3 with student ID.

The next showing is "Night Catches Us" Feb. 18 and 19 at 7:30 p.m. The film takes place in 1976, when complex political and emotional forces are set in motion after a young man returns to the race-torn Philadelphia neighborhood where he came of age during the Black Power movement.

The Palace is on Main Street in Frostburg.

Light My Fire?

Can you light your water on fire? In the Oscar-nominated documentary "GasLand," director Josh Fox journeys across America to examine the negative effects of natural-gas drilling. "GasLand" will be presented Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m. in the Atkinson Room (234) of the Lane Center. Soulmobile will provide live music at 7 p.m.

Literature

E=(LG)2 Is Back!

All faculty and staff are encouraged to have their students submit materials for the spring 2011 issue of E=(LG)2. Articles should be 50-500 words with an environmental or sustainability emphasis and pertain to student research, class activities, nature appreciations, club activities, reportage and more. Photos and digital artwork should be included. The magazine will be published in print and online. Submissions from all disciplines are welcomed.

E=(LG)2 is a product of ENGL 402, Editing and Production. The magazine website, which includes previous issues, is <http://organizations.frostburg.edu/lmag/>.

Students should send their materials to lmag@frostburg.edu by March 11.

For info, contact Sydney Duncan at x4225 or sduncan@frostburg.edu.

Visual Arts

'Boundaries' on Display at Roper

"Boundaries," an exhibition featuring works by Brazilian surrealist Juarez Venâncio de Melo, will be on view through Feb. 20 in FSU's de Melo has been influenced by artists such as Lucian Freud, Edward Hopper, René Magritte, Dali, Manet and others. Two tendencies define his style: the treatment of painting as if it were sculpture and denser painting with expressive brush strokes. In some of his work there is a mingling of these tendencies. The play of light and shade creates a small and consistent depth that leads to ambiguity regarding the nature of his work, which seems to launch itself into space. de Melo's most frequent concern is the inversion of inner and outer visions, or opposing positions, concerning all aspects – form, nature and contrast – frequently producing a dialogue between pictures using the same language. The multifaceted nature of the human being is also reflected in his visual repertoire – all these facets are charged with a stunning emotional intensity – and a playful relationship crystallizes between the human figure and space. The symbology may be hidden in the image or explicit.

Roper Gallery.

A native of Uberlândia, de Melo obtained a bachelor's degree in fine arts with a specialization in painting from the Federal University of Minas Gerais in 1991. In 1990 he held his first exhibition at the Cultural Centre at the university, and since then, he has held individual exhibitions while also taking part in collective ones, and has won several prizes in Brazilian and Spanish galleries.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For info, call the Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

ACS to Host Talk

On March 1, the Western Maryland Chapter of the American Chemical Society will host a dinner and talk at 6:30 p.m. at Ryan's restaurant in Hagerstown, Md. The talk, "When Good Ligands Go Bad: The Oxidations of Ir(III) Coordination Complexes," will be given by Lisa S. Park-Gehrke, an adjunct instructor in the Chemistry Department at Shepherd College.

If interested in carpooling to this event, contact Peggy Biser at x3193 or pbiser@frostburg.edu.

FSU YouTube Channel Needs New Vids!

Are you making a video for your class, program or division? Does the video express something interesting, unique and positive about FSU? If so, consider sharing it via the FSU YouTube channel (www.youtube.com/frostburgstuniversity!).

With 48 subscribers and nearly 14,500 total upload views, the FSU YouTube channel is a way to promote your video to the world at large and other people interested in Frostburg. Additionally, FSU is trying to feature a different video every Friday through the FSU Facebook page (facebook.com/frostburgstateuniversity) by posting a link to a video on the FSU YouTube channel, so your video could potentially be shown to thousands of people on Facebook!

To submit a video for consideration, upload it on YouTube and e-mail the link to efrostburgcomm@frostburg.edu. Or burn the video to a disc and send it to Becca Ramspott, Public Information Specialist: Technology and New Media, 245 Hitchens Building, Frostburg State University, 101 Braddock Rd., Frostburg, MD 21532-2303. Be sure to include contact info!

Graduation Exceptions

Planning a May 2011 graduation? If your official degree progress report indicates you have not completed all requirements and you have a basis to request an exception, submit your written appeal letter and supporting letters and documentation to the Academic Standards Subcommittee, Office of the Provost, Hitchins 213, by 4 p.m. on Feb. 17 for the February meeting, March 17 for the March meeting or April 14 for the April meeting (last chance for graduation exceptions and inclusion in the Commencement Booklet). For info, call the Provost’s Office at x4212.

International

For info, visit the Fuller House, call x4714 or e-mail Victoria Gearhart at vmgearhart@frostburg.edu. Also check out the CIE website at www.frostburg.edu/admin/cie/stdyabrd.htm.

Where Would You Like to Study Abroad?

The Center for International Education offers various ways for FSU students to see the world. In some cases, students can pay FSU tuition, room and board and study for a semester or a year in Ireland, England, Spain, France, China, Italy, Mexico, Malta, Botswana or many other countries. FSU also offers summer study abroad programs. Financial aid, student loans and scholarships are available.

Study Abroad Fair

There will be a Study Abroad Fair on Wednesday, March 16, from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Lane Center 113. Representatives from various study abroad programs and study abroad students will be available to answer questions.

Limerick, Ireland (Fall 2011)

Students can study for a semester at Mary Immaculate College and pay FSU tuition. Credits will transfer back to FSU. For info, go to www.mic.ul.ie/.

Changsha, China (Fall 2011)

Through the China Exchange Program, FSU students can spend a semester at Hunan Normal University in Changsha, Hunan Province, P.R. China (www.hunnu.edu.cn/english/). Students pay FSU tuition and fees (based on residency status) through their student e-bill account and pay room and board costs to Hunan Normal University. Living costs are generally lower than at FSU and courses are taught in English.

Summer Positions

Upward Bound is seeking tutors/counselors for its summer residential program on FSU’s campus. Upward Bound is a federally funded program that encourages qualified Allegany County high school students to seek education beyond secondary school. The summer residence program provides the main focus and aims to provide students with a sample of the college experience. Tentative dates are from June 5 to July 22 (which includes five days of training). Tutor/counselor salary is $2,000. Room and board are provided. Applicant review will begin immediately and the deadline to apply is March 1. For info, contact the Upward Bound office at x4994 or esteele@frostburg.edu, or visit the Upward Bound website at www.frostburg.edu/clife/ubp.
